Roman Catholic Faithful Launches 'Operation Transparency'

(PETERSBURG, IL) — An organization of Catholics dedicated to exposing corruption in the Catholic Church has recently launched a new initiative, "Operation Transparency." Stephen Brady, President and Chief Executive Officer of Roman Catholic Faithful, has recently met with directors of several major Catholic lay organizations to discuss its enhanced investigation of clerical misconduct and the obfuscation of important information by the bishops. "It's clear to me that the hierarchy has lost its faith – no believer could fail to express great outrage at any homosexual activity among the priesthood, and especially among the bishops, and that outrage is dismally absent among most in the hierarchy. They 'talk, but they don't walk'. Instead, they cover-up; while dioceses claim to offer support for victims, victims regularly report they are ignored or worse. Eventually they have to hire an attorney and go public in order to find any justice."

Continuing, Mr. Brady stated, "The Catholic laity are increasingly demoralized by the drip, drip, drip of ugly news about the widespread corruption among the bishops and priests in the United States. Children are molested by priests, bishops cover up these crimes, and seminaries have become glorified bathhouses where future priests are initiated into the gay mafia. Heterosexual seminarians are sometimes made to feel uncomfortable and are even driven out of the seminary since they won't 'go along to get along.' In addition, some priests engage in sexual relationships with adults, which is a clear abuse of authority that is immoral and even criminal in some states. Moreover, millions of dollars contributed by the faithful have been embezzled or squandered by the clergy to support their corrupt lifestyles.

"For many years, Roman Catholic Faithful has waged a battle against the corruption in the Church, but the corruption is so widespread that it has been impossible to keep up with the volume of effluvia of filth committed by the clergy."

Mr. Brady stated that, "almost single-handedly," he and RCF have exposed

- Criminal behavior by clergy

- Grossly immoral conduct by members of the clergy
- Cover-ups of this conduct by the bishops
- Mistreatment of victims
- The misappropriation or conversion of Church funds in the millions of dollars

“Meanwhile,” Mr. Brady stated, “many priests and bishops have neglected their primary job of saving souls by a failure to encourage prayer (especially the Rosary) and reception of the sacraments; by a failure to teach what the Church teaches, by a failure to preach on the immorality of today’s contemporary filthy immoral behavior such as cohabitation, contraception, abortion, and pornography; by neglecting to speak against the selfish accumulation of wealth, divorce, blasphemy, and failure to attend Mass on Sundays and Holy Days, for example.” Mr. Brady continued, “Instead, whenever these bishops speak out, it is generally to support trendy political movements such as open borders, expanded government spending, free health care for illegal aliens, and various other pet projects of the Democratic Party.”

Mr. Brady cited as an example that when the New York legislature was debating the legalization of same-sex ‘marriage’, “Timothy Cardinal Dolan made sure he was safely out of town. By contrast, Dolan made sure he was available to make a photo shoot with the immorally dressed Rockettes.” (ref. <https://tinyurl.com/yx9lqxbd>). Astonishingly, Dolan also loaned a mitre to Rihanna for the Met Gala (<https://tinyurl.com/y33yh8b5>).

Mr. Brady stated, “Both in the larger culture and among the faithful, the leaders of the Church have become an on-going scandal. They have become a joke in the eyes of the public, instead of a vessel of salvation.

“This is about to change.”

In launching Operation Transparency, RCF will undertake the following:

- Exposing all sexually active priests, bishops and other clerics, both homosexual and heterosexual
- Disclosing the names of bishops who have covered up egregious immoral conduct of priests

- Identifying seminaries in which sodomy is tolerated and where orthodox seminarians who complain about this behavior are sent for mental health evaluations before being expelled from the seminary.
- Investigating and exposing elements of Satanic sexual rituals that take place within the Church
- Exposing the mistreatment of whistleblower priests and priests who attempt to promote genuine Church teaching
- Exposing heterodox catechetical programs corrupting youth such as the RCIA program
- Calling out and naming names of bishops and priests promoting erroneous doctrines such as the so-called acceptance of feminism, homosexuality, cohabitation, and sacrilegious reception of the Holy Eucharist.
- Exposing and naming priests who refuse to distribute Communion on the tongue.
- Disclosing the names of bishops who are attempting to suppress the celebration of the Traditional Latin Mass
- Tracing the spending of every last dime contributed by hard-working parishioners

Mr. Brady stated that these are only examples of what RCF hopes to accomplish with Operation Transparency. He compared it to “a form of a RICO action” conducted by the Catholic faithful.

Reports of RCF’s progress and the names of offenders will be published on the RCF website. “The corrupt will no longer be able to hide,” Mr. Brady said.

Mr. Brady stated, “To those bishops and priests leading a holy life, we ask for your prayers and support. We are very grateful for you and will pray for you since we know you do not receive the support you deserve and are sometimes persecuted for your fidelity. We ask you to pray for the courage to help us discover and disclose corruption in the Church, even though that will earn you more persecution by other Church leaders.

“To those bishops and priests leading a double life, characterized by deplorable immorality, corruption and cowardice, our advice is to repent or step down now. WE ARE COMING FOR YOU! We know how to do the investigations necessary to compile the evidence that will prove wrongdoing. We will not make sloppy accusations that cannot be substantiated. Some of you will go to jail.”

Mr. Brady continued, “Let me be clear. This will be a completely legal operation; it is not a witch hunt; we simply follow the leads where they take us. Those who are innocent will welcome our investigations; those who are corrupt should fear not only the consequences they may face in this world, but of what fate they will face in the hereafter. Indeed, we hope to give them a chance to repent before they meet their Maker.”

Again, a major concern is the state of the seminaries. RCF has recently been contacted by several women and several seminarians who have alleged that they were victims of grave sexual abuse perpetrated by clerics attached to a major and highly-regarded seminary.

Mr. Brady asked that any victims of abuse or anyone who may know someone who has been abused, to contact RCF in confidence at confidential@rcf.org and help RCF expose this corruption.

Concluding, Mr. Brady said, “We have placed the work of Operation Transparency under the patronage of Our Lady of Guadalupe. Please pray that she intercedes on our behalf in order to purify the Church in the United States and thereby save souls from the eternal fires of Hell.

“This will be a massive undertaking, for which we ask for your prayers and financial support.”
